Dear MP,

David Davies MP is pleased to invite you to the APPG on Skin’s (APPGS) inflammatory skin condition awareness event.

It will be held between 13:30-15:00 on Wednesday 24th July 2019, in Room A, 1 Parliament Street.

Millions of people in the UK live with inflammatory skin conditions, including eczema and psoriasis. Yet the general public and policy-makers are often unaware of the painful and disabling effects of these diseases. This can lead to people suffering in silence with their condition, as they are not being provided with the right information or access to the appropriate treatment.

Patient groups have previously raised concerns to the APPGS over variations in the implementation of expert guidance, and ultimately care, between commissioners and providers of healthcare.

The event will expand upon these and other pressing issues facing people with inflammatory skin conditions. It will include speeches and information leaflets prepared by patient groups.

We would be delighted if you were able to drop into the event - even for a few minutes - and receive a written briefing on the key issues. Speakers will also offer a moving and detailed account of patient experiences.

Many of these issues do have implementable solutions that we hope you can help us with. Therefore, we would welcome your attendance and support.

I would be grateful if you would confirm your attendance with me at sebastian.guterres@appgs.co.uk

Yours sincerely,

Sebastian Guterres,
Secretariat of the APPG on Skin
